OBITUARY.

Mrs. Bridget Shields.
Friends and relatives of the late Mrs. Bridget Shields gathered to pay their last respects yesterday morning at nine o'clock. The service was held at St. Patrick's church of which the deceased was a member, and Dean E. E. Reilly officiated. Many beautiful floral tributes testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held. The pallbearers were: Geo. Cullen, John Cullen, John Kehoe, John Heffernan, R. Hargreaves, and A. Smith. Interment was in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Mrs. Catherine Croak.
Funeral services for the late Mrs. Catherine Croak were held yesterday morning at ten o'clock from St. Patrick's church, Father J. J. McGinty officiating. It was an unusually large gathering of friends who conducted the remains to their final resting place in Mt. Olivet cemetery and with the beautiful floral offerings was an exceptional tribute to the esteem in which the deceased was held in the community. The pallbearers were: Wm. Spicer, John Dawson, Dan Finnane, John Drow, Thomas Croak, and Wm. Macklin.

Julius Nickel.
The funeral of Julius Nickel was held yesterday afternoon at half past one from the home at 721 Western avenue, and at two o'clock from St. Paul's German Lutheran church, Rev. C. J. Koerner officiating. There was a large gathering of the friends of the deceased and interment was in Oak Hill cemetery. Pallbearers were: Wm. Reichfeld, F. Zahn, H. Zahn, August Jager, Hermann Klemm, and Wm. Lueck.

Mrs. Henry Kueck.
Mrs. Henry Kueck passed away this morning at half past ten at her home on the Delavan road. Her death came suddenly as the result of heart failure, and comes as a shock to her host of friends in the city. The deceased was born in Mecklenburg, Germany, July 14th, 1857. She came to this country in 1882 and in the following spring was married to Henry Kueck, who survives her. Mrs. Kueck was a devoted wife and mother and her loss will be deeply mourned by her many friends. Besides her husband, a brother, Lou Kueck, and ten children all of this city, are left to mourn her loss. The children are: Mrs. Michael McKeligue, Mrs. Chas. Hutter, Mr. Frank Klingler, and the Misses Emma, Edith, and Elizabeth Kueck, and four sons, Charles, William, Herman and Henry. Notice of the funeral will be given later.

YEAR'S REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT

CHIEF APPLEYBY AND HIS MEN HAVE HAD A BUSY TWELVE MONTHS JUST ENDED.

1090 ARRESTS WERE MADE

Majority of These Were for Drunkenness—Chief Second in List of Personal Arrests Made.
Chief of Police George M. Appleyby and his department have just closed one of the busiest years in the history of the local department. With the grand total of 1,090 arrests during the past twelve months the seven officers that safeguard the citizens of Janesville have had their hands full. The figures themselves tell a most interesting story and considering the fact that Janesville has been considered fairly orderly, are amazing, when taken into careful consideration.

Beloit, which claims a larger population, has about twice as many arrests as this city who records a total of but 595 arrests in the same period, 460 of whom were taken into court.

Chief of Police Appleyby was second in the list of arrests, made which was as follows: Chief Appleyby, 180; John Brown, 71; Fleming, 152; Morrissey, 133; Champion, 91; Sam Brown, 108; S. Born, 158; Hallen, extra policeman, 78; Dalton, special officer, 21; Palmer, watchman, 6; Wm. Bull, 1; Wm. Brown, 1. In this connection it would be well to note that John Brown had a ninety day leave of absence which brings his total down somewhat below the other officers, his place being taken by Hallen, who also acted during the vacation periods of the other officer during the year.

During the year the amount of stolen property and money recovered reached the total figure of $789.25 and the fines and marshals' fees turned into the city treasury amounted to $1,838.75. Chief Appleyby makes the following comment upon some of the cases held.

"There have been a number of robberies that have been run down by the department and the goods recovered that have been kept from the general public, in some cases the parties making the complaint refusing to prosecute after they have recovered their property. In some of these cases I think wisdom has been shown but in others I fear that a mistake was made in not making the matter public. It is always a guess which is the best method to pursue in such cases, to show leniency or inflict the full penalty of the law."

The chief also makes a suggestion as to the future work of the department by calling attention to the fact that the local department has no contingent fund at its disposal with which to pursue and run down criminals who flee from the city. Such funds or arrangements for payment of the expenses of officers who follow criminals outside the city, is made by the Beloit and Madison departments, while the Janesville officers are forced to defray their own expenses or use the telephone and depend upon the officers of other cities and towns to aid them. Mr. Appleyby said of this feature of the police work:

"Our work in the future as in the past, must depend somewhat upon what outside help we receive. The local department is handicapped by lack of funds to pursue criminals or arrangements for payment of the expenses of officers who may go outside the city to arrest criminals or to investigate clues that may lead to arrests. Other cities have such arrangements but Janesville has none. Here we turn in all cases to the city and no provision is made to pay expenses of officers who would pay valuable assets to the department in this respect. It would aid greatly to the efficiency of this department if the council saw fit to make such provision."

"In making up this report I wish to thank the citizens in general for their kindness and help to the department in the year just closed and to solicit their hearty cooperation for the coming twelve months. The past year has been most pleasant through the aid and assistance of the retiring district attorney, John L. Fisher, and Sheriff Elmer Schell, and feel certain that the two new officers, Sheriff Ransom and District Attorney Stanley Dunlap, will work in the same accord with our department."

The following is the list of arrests made and the cause for them. It will be seen that by far the greatest number, 922, was for drunkenness, the crimes being listed as follows:

Obtaining goods by false pretenses, 1; larceny, 3; disorderly, 11; vagrancy, 2; assault and battery, 12; larceny, 3; non-support, 12; fornication, 3; inmates of disorderly houses, 31; lighted signs, 1; attempted suicide, 1; arrested for prostitution, 6; plain assault, 1; enticing girls from home, 1; assault to do bodily harm, 2; wife desertion, 1; begging, 5; incorrigible, 2; slandering, 1; burglary, 5; abusing animals, 1; larceny from the person, 1; boat logging, 1; violating fire ordinance, 5; held for witnesses, 2; arrested for out of town offenses, 4; for drunkenness, 922; grand total 1,090. Tramps, vagrants and lodgers are not included.

MERRY-MAKING AS OLD YEAR DEPARTS

Advent of 1911 Was Occasion for Many Social Gatherings—Mr. and Mrs. Ogden H. Fethers Entertained.

Many Janesville people took advantage of the closing hours of 1910 for joyous social gatherings and balled the coming of 1911 with due demonstrations befitting such a festive occasion.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ogden H. Fethers fifty young people were entertained in a most delightful manner, New Year's Eve, in honor of their nephew, Ogden Fethers Conkey, of Canton, N. Y. The home was elaborately decorated with Christmas bells, roses, mistletoe, and poinsettias. Dancing was engaged in until after the arrival of the new year whose advent was heralded with due formality. A eleven o'clock supper was served and trappé was served to the dancers in the course of the evening. It was one of the pleasantest watch parties of the evening.

Lodges at Watch Party.
The local lodges of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs united in a watch night party at the West Side hall on New Year's Eve. Between three and four hundred members of the local lodges were present. At the opening of the evening an interesting program was given as follows:

Music duet—Mrs. Jas. Scott, Miss Mae Church.
Solo—Mrs. Winkler.
Reading—Mrs. George Davy.
Address—Fred Holt.
Reading—Mrs. Mae Smith.
Song—Geo. L. Hatch.
Music solo—Miss Hazel Doherty.
Following the program the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing to the musical strains of Knott and Hatch's orchestra. A buffet lunch was served during the evening. At midnight an effective caution entitled, "The old year out and the new year in," was given. The lights were turned out and the candles rays revealed Father Time with the babe, 1911, on his back and several girls ringing out the departing old year. It was a festive occasion which none failed to enjoy.

Week End Party.
Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Jacobs have been entertaining a week-end party at their home on Willow Brook farm during the holiday festivities. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Mart. Holbrook and daughter, Georgia of Lima; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hall of Livingston, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Roslen and daughter of Madison, Miss Marion Jacobs of Madison, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Jacobs and two sons of Dodgeville, and Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Barker, and Mrs. Mary Jacobs all of Janesville.

Miss Foster Entertained.
Miss Jessie Foster entertained a number of friends at her home on Center avenue, at a watch party in honor of her cousin, Miss Mahel Turner of California, and Alberta Horn of Barrington, Ill. Music and games of various kinds formed the amusement for the evening until the bells and whistles announced the arrival of 1911. Supper was served at a late hour.

New Year's Eve Party.
Mr. and Mrs. Bert Schaller entertained a number of friends at a New Year's Eve party at the home of their mother, Mrs. George Schaller, at 472 Terrace street. A delicious luncheon was served and the guests report an excellent time. Out-of-town guests included Geo. B. Barst and Miss Gordon of Rockford, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry, of Rockford, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward, of South Bend, Ind.; Edward, of Wayville, Wis., and Albert, of Elm Grove, Wis.
Miss S. J. Smith entertained about thirty guests at her home in the Argyle hotel, during New Year's Eve at a very large and sumptuous and social thirty-three of the new year a del. The guests were served a delicious lunch.

TRAINS DELAYED BY COLD SPELL

All Incoming Passenger Trains on Both Railroads Came in Late Yesterday and Today.
Passenger trains on both railroads into this city were delayed yesterday and today, principally as the result of the sudden spell of cold weather. This was especially true of trains arriving from the north and particularly those making connections at St. Paul with trains from the west where the cold wave first made its appearance. Strong winds block the headway of a train, slippery rails sometimes retard it, and more frequently the delay is caused because of the extra amount of steam needed to heat the coaches. Trains from the north had frosted window panes and platforms partly covered with snow.

FATHER KEHOE DIED ON SUNDAY MORNING

Noted Milwaukee Catholic Divine Passed Away—His First Charge Was in Janesville.

Father James J. Kehoe, one of the best known Catholic priests in Milwaukee died on Sunday after a lingering illness of many years. Father Kehoe was graduated from St. Francis Seminary in 1871 and his first charge was as assistant to Rev. Father Doyle at St. Patrick's church, this best known Catholic priests in Milwaukee's Cathedral, Milwaukee in 1880 and has remained there ever since.

NEW YEAR'S DAY AT THE TOBACCO CITY

Was Appropriately Celebrated by Various Social Events and Special Church Services.

Edgerton, Jan. 3.—In Edgerton the new year was ushered in most joyously and in various manners in watchnight, meetings, ringing of church bells, firing of shot guns, etc. Sunday, New Year's Day, services appropriate to the new year were held in all the churches of the city. Many family gatherings were also held.

Monday nearly all families were assembled, especially in the afternoon. A dance in the evening in Academy hall closed the season's festivities. The dancing proved a most social event and was largely participated in by the young people. The Stricker and McIntosh orchestra furnished the inspiration.

The rain of Sunday afternoon and evening, followed by colder weather and snow made the sidewalks and highways exceedingly dangerous for travel and thus far many accidents are reported.

Local News.
Mrs. Herman Greenwood and little son, after a four days visit here with relatives returned Sunday evening to their home in Milwaukee.

Hans Nelson, cigar manufacturer left today on a business trip to Milwaukee and New Glarus.

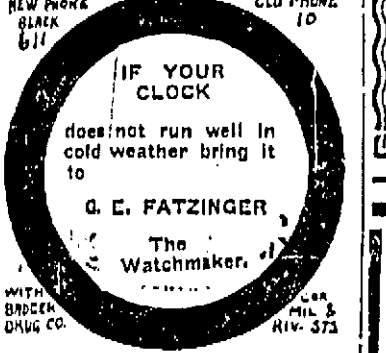

Miss Rosa Harrington, after spending one week's vacation at home, returned Sunday evening to Milton Junction, to resume her teaching in the Paul district.

City Treasurer, H. H. Dickinson was on deck Monday morning for the receiving of taxes.

PLEASANT PARTIES ON MONDAY NIGHT

Twentieth Annual Ball Of Brotherhood Of Firemen and Engineers At Assembly Hall.—K. C. News.

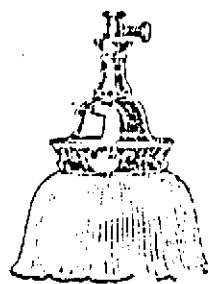

Some two hundred couples, members of Bower City lodge No. 285, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and friends, attended the twentieth annual grand ball given by the order in Assembly Hall last evening. The occasion was a most delightful one. The decorations were beautiful and in keeping with the season. Streamers of white with small red Christmas bells and sprigs of imitation leaves in the same color, were hung from all sides of the room. In the center a large Christmas bell was suspended. Inverted bowls of the red leaves added to the effect. South-eastern music and orchestra stand, Knott & Hule's seven piece orchestra rendered a delightful program of dances from nine until three o'clock, there being an intermission of an hour at midnight for supper.

New Year's Party.

Members of Carroll Council No. 596 Knights of Columbus held a New Year's party in the club rooms in the Jackson block last evening. The evening was spent in dancing. Prof. W. F. Thiele and Prof. George Gray furnishing the music. About midnight a lunch was served. The dance lasted until one o'clock.

Hamilton basket ball team of Two Rivers, Wis. as follows: C. Cary, c; Kruger, and Rivers, Wm. The Hamilton team, Redding, guards; Fox and Aldous, term themselves an all star aggregation and claim the championship of the state. They have played ten games this season away from their home town and won them all but two. All their men have good basket ball records and are said to be veritable giants. Cary, their center measures six feet three inches in height, and Kruger, one of the guards, is said to weigh 195 pounds. Realizing that they will be up against a stiff opposition, the Cardinals plan to strengthen their team by adding two University of Wisconsin players to their team if it can be so arranged. The Janesville line-up with the exception of these possible additions will be the same as formerly. The Two Rivers lineup is feated Arthur Getz of Rockford and Jack Delaney of Milwaukee. Devine and Delaney are crack skaters and Getz and Byrne are amateurs, but the contest was exciting from the crack of the pistol starting the race, to the end. The time made was very fast, 10:17. A large crowd witnessed the sport, and cheered enthusiastically for the local skater, who showed the best form he has thus far displayed and exceeded Getz in cleverness and skill. On Saturday evening in a speed contest between Devine and Delaney, Devine noosed out Delaney, winning by about two feet. The time made was 3:01. Manager Connors of the rink is planning a three mile race between crack skaters, to take place in the near future, for a purse of $50.

FIVE BURNED TO DEATH

Children of J. M. Savage Lose Lives in Morning Fire.

Parents Escape but Are Unable to Tell Firemen of Children Because They Did not Speak English.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Jan. 3.—Five children were burned to death when the home of John Mark Savage of Minersville, was burned to the ground with two adjoining houses. The father and mother were awakened by the shouts of neighbors and the smoke filled their room and they got out safely. By that time the lower floor was in flames. The excited parents tried to explain to the firemen that the five children were asleep in a second floor room, but could not speak English and make themselves understood. Then the father tried to rush into them, but was driven back, badly burned by the flames. The charred bodies of the children were found later.

Do You Eat Bread?

You say you do
—but do you?

Ever stop to consider how much of the most healthful of all foods you eat?

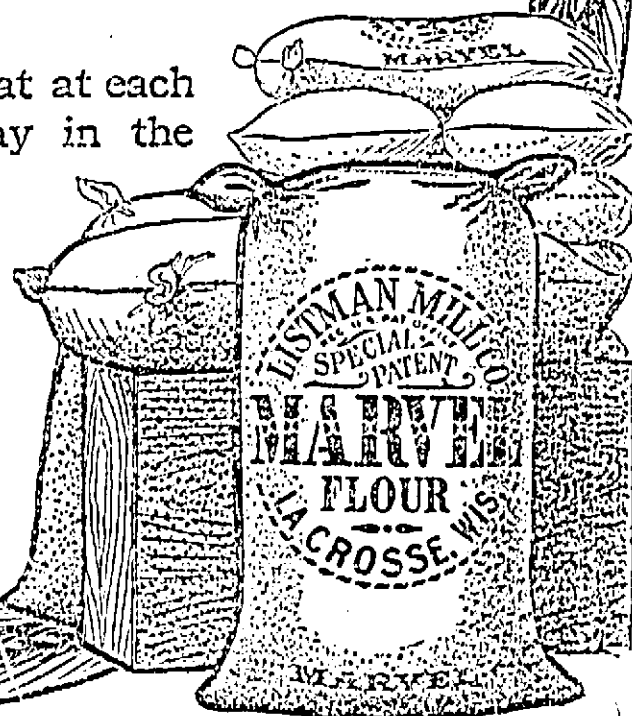

How delicious bread tasted in childhood days—well, it's just as delicious today as it was then.

Did you ever hear anyone say that bread was harmful? Bread is the only food upon which all authorities agree. All pronounce it to be healthful, nutritious and beneficial, in fact it is the "Staff of Life."

It is the one food that you can eat at each meal—three times a day—every day in the year and never tire of.

The bread that makes you want more is bread made from—

THE OUTLOOK FOR BUSINESS.

Now that the holiday season has passed and the sober work of the new year is at hand, it is well to look conditions fairly in the face and prepare to meet them. There is less of optimism in the air than there was a year ago, and more of a determination to economize and cut out extravagance and waste.

This is well for the country as we were travelling at too rapid a pace. There are more people out of employment than there were last January, and the outlook for some of the industries is not very encouraging. This is especially true of iron and steel, and conditions in these lines are not likely to improve until the railroad business recovers from disturbing influences.

Political changes have been freely discounted, and no radical tariff legislation is anticipated. If the present congress established a permanent tariff commission with authority to act, the people will be satisfied.

When inventories are closed and the various business crafts are squared away for the voyage of the year it will be found that good headway can be made by careful navigation. Henry Clegg, the New York banker, says, in sizing up the situation:

"We are entering 1911 in a much soberer mood than we entered 1910. Then optimism was the prevailing spirit; now conservatism is the rule everywhere, tinged with occasional pessimism. Whatever point of view be taken there is sharp contrast between conditions now and a year ago, particularly in the East, which as the financial center of the country is always first to feel reactionary influences and first to take the initiative, either in forward movements or retrenchments. For six months at least contraction has been the order of the day, and there are no indications as yet of this tendency having exhausted itself.

"Because we have soared too high, because the buying power of the people has been exhausted temporarily by extravagance or too free expenditure of capital, the only cure is for commodities to descend to a lower level, thus stimulating fresh activity and restoring the normal. This can certainly be accomplished without any prolonged cessation of industry; and in due season it will be found that prosperity can be continued even upon a lower basis. What the country most needs during the coming year is rest from political agitation, rational treatment of business and social questions, and economy in national, state, municipal and domestic expenditures. In this direction will be found the true cure for present demerit. The situation will soon correct itself if natural forces are not unduly interrupted. As for the stock market, that is likely to anticipate any business recovery, especially as cheap money and investment conditions are favorable to a rise."

PRACTICAL PHILANTHROPY.

The late Russell Sage was a peculiar character. As a man of great wealth he belonged in a class by himself, and while not noted for philanthropic work, in the way of large endowments, yet he accomplished much by helping worthy young men to start in business, and in doing other practical things in a quiet way.

At his death, the $80,000,000 which represented his fortune, was left to his widow, and she is attempting to help people to help themselves, which after all is the most practical charity. Her latest venture is a model town, thus described by an exchange:

"The management of the Sage Foundation Holmes company, which is a side issue of the Sage Foundation, has planned to erect a model town on Long Island at a short distance from the metropolis. Plans and specifications have been drawn, and it is expected that the enterprise will be ready by next fall.

"The site chosen for the model colony is at Forest Hills, a beautiful and healthy suburb on the new line of the Long Island railroad, nine miles from the Pennsylvania station in the very heart of Manhattan. A tract of 112 acres has been purchased and artistically laid out in lots and sections by Frederick Law Olmsted, the well known landscape artist. The architectural development will be in charge of Grosvenor Atterbury, who is famous for beautiful and unique designs. Every detail has been worked out to combine a maximum of utility and beauty with a minimum of cost.

"Though Mrs. Russell Sage has expended hundreds of thousands of dollars, since her husband's death, for philanthropic purposes and the general betterment of the working people, the new enterprise will not be charitable in any way, nor is it intended for the poor or laboring classes. Nor will it be managed on a charitable basis. Whoever wishes to become either tenant or purchaser, will pay a fair price. It will be run solely as a business investment and conducted in all details on the strictest business principles. It is intended for people of moderate salaries or incomes, those whose means can enable them to pay $25 per month and upwards toward the possession of their own homes."

THE COST OF LIVING.

Some one said, a time ago, that the cost of living in this or any other country, was largely a question of income, as the average man lived pretty close to what he had to spend. This is true to large extent.

The Capital City is said to be one of the most expensive cities in the land for a home, and at the same time one of the cheapest places to live. Both statements are true.

The 30,000 government employees at Washington are not high salaried people. They do not own their homes, and yet they manage to live well on a moderate income, yet the congressman and official find it difficult to finance their expenses on liberal salaries.

Washington furnished the comfortable cottage and low priced restaurant for the man with a thousand dollar income, and she also looks out for the man who has several times that amount to spend, and sees to it that he spends the most of it. The National Magazine, in discussing this question, relates the following experience:

"A newly elected senator came on early to Washington to arrange for rooms, and had an object lesson furnished him on the high cost of living—the winning slogan in the recent campaign. He wanted to start in 'with the swim' and be at the center of things so he picked the 'famous' hotel.

"We make it $650 per month, two rooms and bath, to you, senator—without meals," said the clerk, dreamily. When the senator caught his breath, he was two blocks up the avenue.

"He tried another hotel, a moderately exclusive house whose lobbies were a sort of edifying pool of statesmen and 'influential' lobbyists. To him the attendant flamed of this staid shrine remarked: 'Now, we have a choice two rooms with bath, at $350 per month—'

"Without eating—just for a sleeping place!' broke in the senator, 'why I'd burn up with fever if I had to sleep at that price!'

"The salary of a senator is $7,500, and it is figured on the high level of 'stagnant living' in Washington that he ought to part with that much for assured rest at a good hotel. But the new senator didn't feel that way about it. Finally it was suggested that he might take a room at the simple hotel of the old days, at one dollar per twenty-four hours, and save money, using the parcel room for baggage when away over Sunday. Then he could take a peep at Peacock Alley and meet friends in the 'lobby' which the more wealthy statesmen and tourists support."

The double tragedy which occurred last Friday will put a damper on aviation as a popular pastime. The two men killed were experts, yet powerless to contend with the treachery of air currents. The mystery of air navigation is still unsolved, and the earth and water will continue to be the world's great highways.

The commission plan of government is rapidly gaining in popularity, and several cities are preparing to adopt it, among the latest being Springfield, Ill. Janesville lost her opportunity, a year ago, and will probably be slow to tackle the proposition again.

The first week in January has been observed, by many churches, as the week of prayer. Four of the city churches will unite this week, in union services, the first meeting to be held tonight at the Presbyterian church. The meetings should be of special interest to all church people.

The "twelfth night" occurs January 6, twelve days from Christmas, when all the greens and holiday decorations are supposed to be burned, but the work of the new year does not wait for "twelfth night." Are we ready for it?

The new governor is duly inaugurated, and the people of the state will wish the new administration all kinds of success.

(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams.)

By WALT MASON.

Oh, yes, I am a joyous jay! I cheer the all the living day, I sidestep grief and sorrow; on yesterday I was as gay and frolicsome as A MATTER I'm today, and I'll be as gay and frolicsome as A MATTER I'm tomorrow. It's just a habit, and no more;

some men may practice being sore, and looking round for evil; for them each day is mostly thorn; they see the cob and not the corn, their wheat is full of weevil. They can't enjoy a sunny day; they'll paw around and snort and say: "A storm will soon be ripping; 'twill knock the stoops off the church, and blow the rooster from his perch, and paralyze the shipping."

If they are healthy, sound as wax, they'll search docked almanacs to read of fell diseases; and when some pages they unfold they'll swear they have a frightful cold, and fill the air with sneezes. All that's a habit, friend of mine; it's just a habit to repine, and deal in gloomy phrases, to say that things are out of whack, that all the wheels have jumped the track, all bound for merry blazes. It's just a habit to bellow that it is waste of time to grove in these dim worldly regions; but such a habit makes you strong, and helps you as you prance along, and brings you friends in legions.

Heart to Heart Talks.

WILL THEY LEARN?

"John, I don't see why you don't get that back door fixed. I've told you several times."

John replies to Mrs. John in a way that makes the red color flare in the latter's cheek, and the controversy ends with—

"Well, it will not get fixed any sooner because of your eternal nagging."

And John goes out slamming the door behind him—a peculiarly masculine manner of emphasis.

The fact is the door should have been repaired, but John has been very busy trying to make both ends come to gether financially and has forgotten.

It is not a very important thing, that back door, but it is very annoying to Mrs. John, and, as she says, she has often spoken about it. It is not so important—

But—

Because of it John has gone down town and Mrs. John is all stirred up. A little thing has caused a big fuss.

By and by Mrs. John cools off and sits down to think.

Why should she have lost her temper? And why should she be so hard on John? Well, does she remember how kind he was when she had that spell of sickness, and how he always remembered her birthdays, and how hard he worked to provide for the family, and how he stayed at home even-lings, and how he stood side by side with her at the baby's cradle while they fought the black death away from the little one, and—

Also John did some thinking:

Did he not know his wife's nerves were always a little frizzled in the mornings? Why should he have answered her as he did? Why should he get mad at her—he a big man and she only a woman? After all, what a brave little wife she was and how she had always done her part and saved his money and saved for the children. And even if she did raise her voice, sometimes she had a lot of things to vex her, the poor dear!

At supper each smiled in the other's face, and each was happy again.

Both husband and wife felt how necessary to life were peace and love and home—and each other.

What has happened may happen again—and again.

Will John and his wife learn from sad experience that resignation under domestic difficulties is more than mere indifference or even forgetfulness—that it is in bearing these difficulties with dignity and in silence and in long suffering? Will they come to know that life is the aggregate of little things? Will they learn that such tremendous things as peace and love and hope are dependent upon such things as patience and kindness and self control?

Will they learn?

Will they learn?

The Pure Food Law.
Secretary Wilson says: "One of the objects of the law is to inform the consumer of the presence of certain harmful drugs in medicines." The law requires that the amount of chloroform, opium, morphine, and other habit forming drugs be stated on the label of each bottle. The manufacturers of Meritol Cough Remedy have always claimed that their remedy did not contain any of these drugs, and the truth of this claim is now fully proven, as no mention of them is made on the label. This remedy is not only one of the safest but one of the best in use for coughs and colds. Its value has been proven beyond question during the many years it has been in general use. LARGE VOLUME OF BUSINESS AT THE MILTON POST OFFICE

Fifteen Thousand One Cent Stamps Were Sold During the Month Of December.

Special to the Gazette. Milton, Jan. 2.—Some idea of the enormous number of Christmas cards mailed can be gathered from the fact that the post office at this place sold fifteen thousand one cent stamps in December. The total receipts of the office for that month were $588, the largest in its history and 367 money orders were issued during the same time.

Annual Church Dinner. The annual dinner at the Seventh-Day Baptist church Sunday, was largely attended, over four hundred guests being held. The financial report showed that one-third more money had been raised and expended the past twelve months than during the preceding year. The ladies raising nearly five hundred dollars. A very interesting letter to the ushership from the former pastor, Rev. Dr. Platts, of Longbeach, Cal., was read and heartily enjoyed.

NEW COMPANY IS TO BE ORGANIZED

M. MARZUFF COMPANY AND WESTERN SHOE COMPANY TO BE CONSOLIDATED.

TO CONTINUE IN BUSINESS

Concern Will Have Capital Stock of Fifty Thousand and Be Known As Lay-Watson Company.

As a New Year gift to commercial Janesville, comes the announcement that a new corporation, or rather a consolidation of two older ones, has been effected and under the name of the Lay-Watson Shoe Company, the M. Marzuff Shoe Company and the Western Shoe Company pass out of individual existence and become one large concern with a capital stock of $50,000.

While the articles of incorporation have not as yet been filed they have been drawn up and will be signed and active work of organization began today. The two leading members of the new firm will be John W. Waterson of Portsmouth, Ohio, and Robert H. Lay, present manager of the Western Shoe Company and the stock subscription will be five hundred, one hundred dollars shares, many of the former preferred stock holders of the Marzuff Company and of the Western Shoe Company becoming interested in the new venture.

Tuesday was consummated yesterday morning at the annual meeting of the Marzuff Shoe Company at which time the machinery, stock and goods of that company was sold for four thousand dollars to the men who are forming the new corporation. The preferred stockholders of the M. Marzuff Company will receive approximately forty per cent of their stock value and will be given the option of taking stock in the new company or receiving cash for their certificates.

John W. Waterson, of Portsmouth, Ohio, who will be one of the owners and managers of the new company, comes to Janesville, after years of experience with the Selby Shoe Company of Portsmouth, one of the largest concerns in the country. With him will be associated Mr. Lay and it is expected that the combination will make a strong element in the commercial world.

The Western Shoe Company has manufactured men's shoes and youth shoes, while the Marzuff company has handled ladies and misses shoes exclusively. The new company will manufacture both lines and when running full force will employ in the neighborhood of seventy-five to a hundred hands and turn out fifteen to eighteen hundred pair of shoes per day.

It is the intention of the Lay-Watson concern to start operations at once and while some days may be taken in adjusting matters and arranging for active work, owing to the fact that the Marzuff factory has been shut down since August last, however it is expected within a week or ten days the factory will be running again.

At the meeting of the Marzuff Company yesterday some $22,000 worth of preferred stock was represented and the sale of the concern to the new company was made by unanimous vote. Mrs. P. M. Marzuff, who since her husband's removal from Janesville to Cincinnati, where he is associated with a large shoe concern has been acting president, presided at the meeting.

SWITCHMAN INJURED BY FALL FROM CAR

Don Godfrey, Employed by St. Paul Road, Fell From Top of Freight Car, Striking His Back Against Rail.

Don Godfrey, a switchman employed by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, suffered painful injuries Monday morning about half past one o'clock, while at work with a switching crew in the yard. The rain of Sunday and the sudden change in the temperature following it had covered the tops of the cars with a coating of ice. In stepping on one of these, a freight car of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, which was about fourteen feet high, Godfrey slipped and fell, striking on his back on a rail. He was found there by Officer Thomas Morrissey, who called the ambulance and had the man taken to the hospital. Godfrey's back was strained and it was feared that he might have been internally injured, but according to the physicians who examined him, none could be found. He is reported as resting much easier today.

MUSICAL DIRECTOR TAKES UPHER WORK

Mrs. Zoe Pearl Park Has Taken Charge of Congregational Church Choir—Has Many Plans.

Mrs. Zoe Pearl Park has assumed her duties as musical director and assistant to the pastor at the Congregational church. Mrs. Park comes from Shelbyville, Ill., where she has been dean of the college of music at that place. She secured her musical education at Chicago and is a soloist of note. Mrs. Park will have entire charge of the music at the Congregational church and plans to organize a boy's choir, a girl's choir, also a chorale unit composed of the older people of the church. She will also have charge of the musical work in the Sunday school.

At the services of the church, Sunday, Mrs. Park rendered two solos, one in the morning, "O, Rest in the Lord," and in the evening, "Ring Out the Old, Ring in the New." Mrs. Park begins her work under auspicious circumstances and favorable results are anticipated.

FIRE THREATENED AN IMMENSE BARN

Corn Fodder in Building On Archie Road Farm in Avalon Caught Fire. Shredded Corn Fodder, in the huge barn on the farm of Archie Road in this city, in Avalon, which had been smoldering for days in one of the upper bays of the barn, burst into flames this morning and threatened to set fire to the building. Speedy, resolute work by neighbors, who threw the burning fodder out of the structure, prevented a fire. The barn was one of the largest in Rock County, over 100 by 40 feet in dimensions, three stories high and valued at $5,000. Spontaneous combustion, it is thought, set fire to the fodder stored in the uppermost part of the building, and it was half burned when found. Practically no damage was done to the building. Between ten and fifteen tons of the feed was spoiled, it is estimated.

CELEBRATION OF NEW YEAR QUIET

Not a Single Arrest Made for Drunkenness From Saturday Night Until This Morning.

Celebration of New Year's Eve and New Year's Day in this city was very quiet in police court circles, not a single arrest for drunkenness being made. "It was one of the quietest Saturday nights on record," said Chief of Police Appleby this morning. "There was not a drunk in the lock-up on New Year's morning." Yesterday the same state of affairs prevailed and there was not a single disciple of Bacchus to face the Judge.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CARSON

"I WILL neither eat nor drink what I know will detract from my ability to do my best work."

That was one of the eight self laws which were posted on the wall in a California hospital and which I quoted the other day.

I was inspired to bring it more especially before you by the experience which I had with it.

I was reading over those laws with a friend. We came to that one, "That's a mighty hard one to keep," he said.

"I don't think so," I disagreed with him. "I think I keep that one right along with very little difficulty. I never eat things that disagree with me."

The next day after an unusually hard morning's work I went into a little lunch room and picked up the menu.

I certainly was never in greater need of a thoroughly nourishing meal than just then, and I meant to have one. But unfortunately my eye lighted on this special "chicken and maple syrup," of which I am very fond. I ordered that and a cup of tea and topped off with a delicious fudge cake, for which the lunch room is justly famous. And it wasn't until I had eaten the cake and was leaving the restaurant with my appetite sated but my needs quite unsatisfied, that it occurred to me how grossly I had violated that rule which I boasted so confidently of my power to keep.

It covers a good deal—that law.

I wonder how many of us do keep it absolutely—

In spirit as well as in letter.

Eating indigestible things in the evening.

Eating between meals.

Eating candy to excess.

Eating foods which we know have a tendency to disagree with us.

Eating heavy meals and not taking care of them by exercise.

Skipping meals when business presses.

Eating hurried and insufficient meals for the same reason.

Eating food which appeals to the palate, but does not satisfy the needs of the body.

Eating when overtired.

These are a few of the offenses against the spirit of that rule.

Often times I hear women who have the utmost scorn and contempt for the drunkard's weakness say of some article of diet, "Yes, I know that is apt to disagree with me but I love it so that I just can't help eating it once in awhile."

These good women are committing the same sin as the man who drinks to excess—that is impairing their ability to be their best selves and do their best work.

They are committing it, moreover, under vastly less pressure of temptation.

And yet they consider they have a right to look down on the drunkard. I don't think they have.

The body is the tool wherewith the mind and soul carve out their work of character and achievement.

Will you needlessly dull that tool or will you try to keep it sharp by "neither eating or drinking what you know will interfere with your capacity to do your best work?"

WORKS MAY SUCCEED FLINT

Los Angeles Man Regarded Now as Successor of California Governor.

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 3.—It looks now as though John D. Works of Los Angeles would be the next United States senator from this state to succeed Senator Flint. His managers have secured nearly all the requisite 61 votes necessary to choice.

Works is favored by insurgent Republicans and he has developed too much strength for A. G. Spalding, the millionaire sporting goods man, of San Diego, who is regarded as a carpet bagger, since he has only been a resident of California about five years.

SIX KILLED ON CURVE

Wild Train of Coal Cars and Train Crash With Fatal Results.

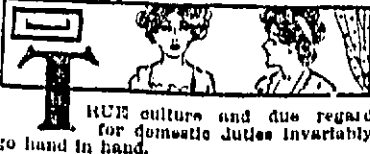

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 3.—A wild train of coal cars and an accommodation passenger train collided on the Millers' Creek branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio, killing six men. The men were riding on the pilot of the engine.

The train was turning a sharp curve when it met the loose cars. The dead are: William Akers, brakeman, Catlettsburg; John Worley, conductor, Louisa; L. E. Vinson, P. H. Fugate, and Lemuel Mills, Van Lear, and L. A. Smetzer, Iron, O.

Dishes for the Sick.

It is often a great problem to know what to feed a sick person, as the appetite being poor, needs something dainty and that which appeals to the taste. Of course, a physician's orders should always be followed, as in some diseases only certain foods are allowed.

Chicken Purée.—Take the white meat from the breast of a chicken that has been nicely roasted and a large tablespoonful of bread crumbs. Pound the meat and bread together, mixing in a little chicken broth to moisten to the consistency of thick cream, season to taste, warm slowly and serve in a small cup.

Bavory Eggs.—Beat up two eggs with salt, pepper and a tablespoonful of cream. Melt an ounce of butter in a saucepan, then pour in the eggs, stirring constantly; as they thicken, throw in small pieces of tender roast chicken. Serve piping hot on toast.

Rice Cookies.—Take half a cup of cold boiled rice, one egg, a teaspoonful of butter and half a cup of milk; add to this three tablespoonfuls of rice flour and a pinch of salt, mix well together and bake in small tins.

Sage Soup.—Cook two tablespoonfuls of sage in one cup of water until soft, then add an egg yolk and beat a cup of cream. Have ready a cup of beef essence and mix together.

Beef Juice on Toast.—Take a half cup of freshly squeezed juice, salt to taste and stand in a dish of hot water to heat. Butter two slices of well-browned toast and pour the juice over it. Serve hot.

Dressed Oysters on Toast.—Troll six large oysters before a very hot fire; have ready two slices of toast nicely buttered. Arrange three oysters on each slice, sprinkle with salt, pepper and lemon juice and serve immediately with horseradish sauce.

One of These.

"What kind of a chap is he, any how?"

OLD AGE THE EPITOME OF THE YEARS.

"Old age is the cream of life!" cried the preacher, talking on old age. And so it is. It is the very epitome of the years. Into it are gathered all the finest experiences of life. The years have been made to give up their sweetness, just as the flowers are made to give up their sweets that they may be stored for use when the season for flowers is past. So the essence of the years is gathered into old age like the perfume of some sweet flower.

Old age represents all of life's blessings concentrated and made useful through the test of time. The man and woman who have passed into the shadows of the evening of the earthly day may look back over a long, rough road, where many places are marked by crosses. They may also find many stretches of pleasure marking the way. If they are just persons, they realize that many of the crosses are of their own making and that their lack of patience often made them harder to bear.

It's the difficulties along the way that form character and a serene old age tells of burdens cheerfully borne, of battles valiantly fought and some of their triumphantly won.

The soldier looks back with the greatest pride and satisfaction to the time when he was sorely pressed by the enemy and to the position from which he extricated himself with the greatest difficulty.

Ask the man of God who has spent the most of his three score and ten years in the pulpit or in the mission field, giving the Message to humanity, and he will tell you that there is now an unparelleled joy in looking back over the battlefields of his experiences and that the rest of old age is enjoyable because of the contrast. In climbing the steps of life he may have shed bitter tears, groaned under his burden, and longed for the plains of plenty and quiet, but he will surely tell you that there are none of his experiences which he would have taken out of his life.

The aged grandmother, who has lived a life of usefulness and purity, may look back over her journey and find it full of sorrows, but she also recognizes that they have had their influence in forming character and that the blessings of her declining years are augmented by that age affords to impress itself upon the younger generations that make it important and beautiful.

That "age is opportunity no less than youth itself, though in another dress." And the opportunities of old age are to impress upon the younger men and women the value of virtue, of aspiration, thrift, gentleness, womanlyness and decency in all the affairs of life.

DESPERATE MEN ESCAPE

Five Gain Liberty In Jail Delivery In Georgia.

Prisoners Were Being Held on Charge of Highway Robbery and Murder — Guard Bound and Gagged.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 3.—After knocking out a guard, five desperate "hold-up" men escaped from the Atlanta jail, which is considered the strongest prison in Georgia. The men are Charles Sutton, A. R. Knox, James Woodson, Henry Bowman and Charles Landon. All were being held for robbery and attempted murder.

For three weeks they terrorized Atlanta nightly by their hold-ups. A week ago they were captured and lodged in jail. Some friend succeeded in passing them saws and they cut the bars of a window of their cell on the fourth floor of the jail, made a rope of blankets, let themselves down and escaped.

They were discovered as they were about to get away by a guard, but they snatched him, bound and gagged him, and then descended from the window. The prisoners had been gone an hour when the bound guard was discovered and released. Bloodhounds are being used to trail them.

He did not go on until she prompted him with a question. "And has the sky-man, Philip Cayley, anything to do with the coincidence?"

Still it was a little while before he spoke. "I suppose I'd better tell you the story—a part of it, at least; I couldn't tell it all to you." He turned to his father. "You, I think, already know it." Then with evident reluctance, he began telling the story to Jeanne.

"There was a man named Philip Cayley," he said, "in Hunter's class at the Point, three classes ahead of me, that was, he and Hunter were chums, the 'David and Jonathan' you know, of their class. I remember what a stroke of luck for them everybody thought it was when they were assigned to service in the same regiment. It seems to me, as I think back to our days at the Point—of course, my memory may be playing me a trick—but it seems to me that even then Cayley was interested in the navigation of the air. Somebody kept a scrap-book of all that the newspapers and magazines reported on the subject, any way; I remember seeing it. I think it was Cayley.

"I lost sight of him and Hunter when they went to the Philippines. It is only justice to Hunter to say that I never heard a word of the thing that happened out there from him. He never seemed to want to talk to me about it, and, of course, I never forced him. Well, I can make a short story of it, any way, though it has to be a nasty one."

"A man came into the post one day, the head man of one of the neighboring villages out there—a man with white blood in him—Spanish blood. They carried him in, for he couldn't walk. He was in horrible condition. He had been tortured—I won't go into the details of that—and flogged nearly to death. He said that Cayley had done it. He had remonstrated with Cayley, he said, because he feared for his daughter's safety—she was a pretty girl, whiter than her father—and it seems that the man's fears had some justification. It appears that Cayley had come out there, blind drunk, with a couple of troopers, who deserted that same night, and man-handled the old man. The girl joined in her father's accusation, at least she didn't deny anything.

"Cayley was away on scout duty at the time when the man came in—the thing had happened some days prior, just before he started out. It came like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky, for everybody liked Cayley and thought him an exceptionally decent, clean sort of chap, though he and Hunter both were drinking a good deal just then. Poor Hunter was all broken up about it. Everybody believed that he really knew some incriminating facts against Cayley, but he never would speak."

"As for Cayley himself, he made no defense whatever. He denied he did it, and that was all. There wasn't any real corroborative evidence against him, so the court-martial dismissed the case as not proved. But he wouldn't testify himself, nor have a single witness called in his behalf, and he resigned from the service then and there, and disappeared, so far as I know, from the world. I heard he had a ranch down somewhere in New Mexico, near Sandoval, I think the place was."

"His father saw a quick tightening in the girl's horror-stricken eyes at the sound of the name, which evidently, in some way, helped corroborate the story to her, but he did not question her about it."

"There was a silence after that, while the three out there on the Aurora's deck looked blankly into each other's faces."

"The silence was broken at last, by some of them, but by a hail from the shore. 'Alloy, Aurora!' cried the voice."

"Mr. Fanshaw answered with a wave of his arm. 'That's Donovan,' he said to the others; then, 'Yes; what is it?' he cried."

"Will you send a dinghy for me, please?"

"The boat was dispatched at once, and while they waited, Mr. Fanshaw borrowed Jeanne's field-glasses for a look at the man who had called them. 'He's in a hurry,' said the old gentleman. 'He looks if he had now, of one sort or another.' They all had felt it in the mere timber of his voice—something urgent; something ominous."

It seemed an interminable while before the returning boat came alongside the foot of the accommodation ladder. When the new-comer appeared at the head of it, his face had plainly written on it the story of some tragedy."

"What is it?" Jeanne asked, not very steadily. "Oh, please don't try to break it to me! Tell me, just as you do the others."

"It's nothing concerning you, miss, not especially, I mean; nothing to do with your father." Then he turned to Mr. Fanshaw, "I found Mr. Hunter, sir."

"Dead?" The tone in which Donovan had spoken made the question hardly necessary."

"Yes, sir. His body is lodged deep down in one of the ice floes in the glacier. I could see it perfectly, though I couldn't get down to it."

Tom Fanshaw covered his face with his hands for a moment. Then he looked up and asked, stolidly: "He slipped, I suppose?"

At the same moment his father asked: "Do you think we shall be able to recover the body?"

Donovan answered this question first."

"We can try, sir, though I've not much hope of our succeeding."

Then, after a moment's hesitation, he turned to the son.

"No, sir, he didn't fall; at least I wasn't the fall that killed him. I found this in a cleft in the ice near by. It must have been driven clean through his throat, sir."

He held out in a shaking hand, a long, slim ivory dart, sharp almost as steel could be, and stained brown with blood. "He was murdered, sir," Donovan concluded simply."

"Give me the dart," the old gentleman demanded. As he examined it, his fine old face hardened. "Do you see?" he asked, holding it out to his son. "There is no notch in the end for a bow-sting, but it will fit very truly in the groove of that throwing-stick that Jeanne brought aboard the yacht this morning."

Then he turned to the girl. "I'm afraid your visitor last night was no vision, my dear, after all."

But the girl was looking and pointing skyward.

CHAPTER V.

The Dart.

"High, high up in the clear opaline air was a broad, golden gleam. Near as it came, and broader it grew, and as it grew, and as it caught more fully the slanting beams of the low-hanging arctic sun, it shone with prismatic, iridescent color among the gold, like an archangel's wings. The whirling thing towered at last right above the mast-head, but high, high up in the sky."

Then the four watchers uttered, in one breath, a horror-frozen cry, for, as a falcon does, it dropped, hurrying. But not to the destruction they foresaw; once more it darted forward, circled half round the yacht, so close to her rail that they heard the whirling scream of the air as those nifty wings cleft through it. And then, as on the night before, his plans upstanding straight, Cayley leaped back—

"It Was a Moment Before He Spoke."

ward, clear of them, and alighted on the floor beside the yacht."

Old Mr. Fanshaw walked quickly around the deckhouse and hailed the new arrival. "Won't you come aboard, sir?" Jeanne heard him call. "I'll send the dinghy for you."

"Thank you," they heard him answer. "There wasn't much room for alighting on the deck or I could have spared you the trouble."

Jeanne stole a glance into Tom Fanshaw's stern, set face, wondering if the tone and the inflection of that voice would impress him as it had her. "Don't you find it hard to believe that he could have done such a thing?" she asked; "a man with a voice like that?"

"I only wish I found it possible to believe he hasn't. Not every villain in this world looks and talks like a thug. If they did, life would be simpler." He paused a moment, then, added: "And we know he did the other thing—out there in the Philippines."

Her face paled a little at that. "If tened," somehow, and she did not answer. They sat silent, listening to the receding oars of the dinghy as it made for the ice-floe. Suddenly the girl saw an expression of perplexity come into Tom Fanshaw's face. "When you talked with him, Jeanne, last night, did you tell him our name? Mine and father's, I mean? Did you give him any hint who we were, or that we were people who might know him?"

"No, only my own; and who father was. He asked me about that."

"Ah," he said, "then that accounts for his coming back."

She had hoped that in some way or other the trend of her answer might be in the sky-man's favor, and was disappointed at seeing that the reverse was true."

She had to repress a sudden impulse of flight when they heard the returning dinghy scrape alongside the accommodation ladder. And even though she realized it, she shrunk back, nevertheless, into a corner behind Tom Fanshaw's chair. The old gentleman was waiting at the head of the ladder, blocking with the bulk of his body, the new-comer's view of the deck and those who were waiting there until he should have fairly come aboard."

"Mr. Philip Cayley?" he inquired stiltily. "My name is Fanshaw, sir; and I think my son, who sits yonder—" he stopped aside and inclined his head a little in Tom's direction—"is, or was once, an acquaintance of yours."

From her place in the background, Jeanne saw a look of perplexity—nothing more than that, she felt sure—come into Philip Cayley's face. The old gentleman's manner was certainly an extraordinary one in which to greet a total stranger, 500 miles away from human habitation. Cayley seemed to be wondering whether it represented anything more than the individual eccentricity of the old gentleman, or not."

Evidently he recognized Tom Fanshaw at once, and, after an almost imperceptible hesitation, seemed to make up his mind to overlook the singularity of his welcome. "I remember Lieutenant Fanshaw well," he said, smiling and speaking pleasantly enough, though the girl thought she heard an underlying note of hardness in his voice. "You were at the Point while I was there, weren't you? But it's many years since I've seen you."

At that he crossed the deck to where young Fanshaw was sitting, and held out his hand. Tom Fanshaw's hands remained clasped tightly on the two arms of his chair, and the stern lines of his face never relaxed, though he was looking straight into Cayley's eyes. "I remember you at the Point very well," he said, "but, unfortunately, there are some stories of your subsequent career which I remember altogether too well."

The girl did not need the sudden look of incandescent anger she saw in Philip Cayley's face to turn the sudden tide of her sympathy toward him. It was not for this old wrong of his that they had summoned him, as to a bar of justice, to the Aurora's deck, but to meet the accusation of the murder of Perry Hunter. Whether he was guilty of that murder, or not, this raking up of an old, unproved offense, was a piece of unnecessary brutality. She could not understand how kind-hearted old Tom could have done such a thing. Thinking it over afterward, she was able to understand a little better."

From behind Tom's chair she could see how heavily this blow he dealt had told. For one instant Philip Cayley's sensitive face had shown a look of unexpressed pain. Then it stiffened into a mere mask—icy; disdainful. It was a moment before he spoke. "When he did, it was to her. 'I don't know why this gentleman presumes to keep his seat," he said. "If it is as a precaution against a blow, perhaps, he need not let his prudency interfere with his courtesy."

"He has just met with an accident," she said quickly. "He can't stand—No, Tom. Sit still," and her hands upon his shoulders enforced the command."

Cayley bowed ever so slightly. "I suppose," he continued, "that since last night you also have heard the story which this gentleman protests he remembers so much too well?"

"Yes," she said.

At that, he turned to old Mr. Fanshaw. "Will you tell me, sir," he asked, "for what purpose I was invited to come aboard this yacht?"

Tom spoke before his father could answer—spoke with a short, ugly laugh. "You weren't invited. You were, as the police say, 'wanted.'"

"Be quiet, Tom!" his father commanded. "That's not the way to talk—to anybody."

Cayley's lips framed a faint, satirical smile; and again he bowed slightly. But he said nothing, and stood, waiting for the old gentleman to go on."

This Mr. Fanshaw seemed to find it rather difficult to do. At last, however, he appeared to find the words he wanted. "When Miss Melling gave us an account, this morning, of the strange visitor she had received last night, we were—I was, at least—inclined to think she had been dreaming it without knowing it. To convince me that you were real and not a vision, she showed me a material and highly interesting souvenir of your call. It was an Eskimo throwing-stick, Mr. Cayley, such as the Alaskan and Siberian Indians use to throw darts and harpoons with. It happens that I've had a good deal of experience among those people, and that I know how deadly an implement it is."

He made a little pause there, and then looked up suddenly into Cayley's face. "And I imagine," he continued very slowly, "that you know that as well as I do."

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 10c, and 25c.

ARE YOU DEAF?

Catarrh is Probably the Cause. Get Rid of the Cause.

If you have catarrh and have constant ringing noises in your ears look into the matter at once.

It is a pretty sure sign that catarrh is spreading and making its way through the Eustachian tube that lead from the nose to the ears.

When catarrh gets to the ears partial deafness follows. If you have ringing noises in your ears go to The Peoples Drug Co., today and get a HYOMEL outfit and drive out catarrh.

To cure catarrh HYOMEL should be breathed through a pocket inhaler for a few minutes, four or five times a day. Just pour a few drops into the hard rubber inhaler and breathe it.

It kills the germ; soothes the irritation; heals the inflammation; stops hacking, spitting and sneezing.

HYOMEL keeps the throat free from mucus and prevents croup in nose.

The complete HYOMEL outfit which includes the little indestructible hard rubber inhaler, a bottle of HYOMEL and simple instructions for use costs $1.00. Separate bottles of HYOMEL cost 50 cents at The Peoples Drug Co., and druggists everywhere on money back plan.

CUTICURA CURED FAMILY OF ECZEMA

Father, Mother and Child had It for 8 Months. Heads Mass of Sores. Could Not Sleep. Itching Terrible. Cured in 2 Months.

"The Cuticura treatment has absolutely cured me and family of eczema which I, my wife and two-year-old child had for eight months. It started with small pimples on the head of my child which gradually broke out in sores, and it was not long before I and my wife got the same. Our heads were one mass of sores, we could not sleep and the itching was terrible. We suffered for eight months. We tried different kinds of ointments and medicine but it did us no good and soon it began to break out on our bodies until a friend who had the same trouble told me about Cuticura of which I used two sets of Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent, and I was surprised. After the first few days our heads began to heal and in two months we were absolutely cured of this terrible eczema. Eugene Potthoff, 581 Ralph Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., February 18, 1910."

No stronger evidence than this could be given of the success and economy of the Cuticura Remedies in the treatment of torturing, disgusting humors of the skin and scalp, of infants, children and adults. A single hot bath with Cuticura Soap and a gentle anointing with Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing cases and permit rest and sleep when all else fails. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are equally effective in preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands and in preventing minor eruptions becoming chronic.

A 32-page booklet giving description and treatment of skin affections will be sent free, on application, by the Potter Drug & Chemical Corp., 125 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

A WEALTH OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Nothing equals an aureole of beautiful hair as a frame for a pretty face. Without a background of nice hair a really pretty face frequently becomes plain and, with it, unattractive features assume life and beauty.

Every woman can increase her natural charm by using Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide makes hair beautiful. The dandruff germ saps the vitality of the hair. Herpicide kills this germ and prevents the hair from falling out, giving it a snap and lustre, a soft, silky fluidness which can be acquired in no other way.

Your druggist will sell you a one-dollar size bottle under an absolute guarantee.

Send 10c in postage for sample and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

Applications may be obtained at the best barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

A Kidney Cure You Can Bank On

Prove the Treatment Before You Pay For It. Your Druggist Has a Free Sample Package For You.

Kidney diseases usually produce intense fear in the hearts of those afflicted with it, for unless treated promptly by the right method they usually end fatally. Every sufferer from kidney or bladder trouble may think ahead for the new treatment, Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills.

Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills are remarkable. They straighten up lame backs every time and right off. Every man and woman can prove it without cost. No matter how badly or dependent you feel about your case, if you have back pain, bladder pain, Bright's disease, diabetes, or rheumatism in any form, do not worry an instant longer. Go to your druggist and get a package of Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills—50 pills—ten days' treatment—25 cents. If you want a proof that all these statements are true, tell your druggist to give you a free sample package. Try them and be convinced.

Loosens Tight Coughs.

Home-Made Cough Syrup.

Here is the cheapest and most powerfully effective cough cure known to medical science. Buy of your druggist, (or have him order it) from the wholesaler) two and one-half ounces of essence mentho-laxene. In the package is full directions for making a splendid laxative, curative cough syrup. This amount makes a full pint at a saving of from $2 to $3 as compared with ordinary labeled cough syrups, and it is really better to cure because it rids the system of the cold and cough by its laxative action.

It is no trouble to make, just buy the mentho-laxene and make a syrup according to directions accompanying. This is the formula.

Essence mentho-laxene ... 2 1/2 Ozs.

Granulated sugar syrup ... 1 1/2 Ozs.

Directions tell how to prepare the syrup at home. It is certainly a blessing for old people and loosens the tightest cough in an hour, while children like to take it, and it prevents pneumonia, fever and other complications by its tonic and laxative action. Use for any throat or lung trouble, and you can actually feel it working and penetrating the tissues of throat and lungs with its curative properties.

TEACHING A GIRL TO SWIM.
 F. Hopkinson Smith, painter, author, engineer and professional optician, tells a story showing that Boston boys of the street are like all others. He overheard a conversation between two youngsters selling newspapers.
 "Say, Harry, what's the best way to teach a girl how to swim?" asked the younger one.
 "Dat's a cinch. First of you puts yer left arm under her waist and you gently takes her left hand."
 "Come off, she's me sister."
 "Aw, push her off de dock."—Cosmopolitan.

THEIR VERDICT.
 "Fetch the body," ordered the foreman of a Texas coroner's jury.
 The body was laid before them. The jury made a careful examination and questioned the attending surgeon.
 "What was he shot?"
 "Square through the heart."
 "Dead in the center of the heart?"
 "Right in the center."
 "Who shot him?"
 "Jake Daniels."
 A dozen witnesses declared that Jake fired the shot, and Jake himself admitted it. The jury consulted softly for some time.
 "Well, gentlemen of the jury," said the coroner, "what's your verdict?"
 "Waal, judge," answered the foreman, "we've come to the conclusion that Jake Daniels is the dandiest shot in these parts—and don't you forget it."

"FIBREX" IS NOT PAPIER MACHÉ

 COVERED JAR WASTE PAIL
 Once in a while we find someone who thinks on account of its exceeding lightness that "Fibrex" is the old papier maché ware.
 "Fibrex" is as different from papier maché as light from darkness.
 It's made of spruce fibre, each article moulded into one piece under tremendous hydraulic pressure; then made non-porous by oxidation.
 It is light—but as strong and durable as it is light.
 If you want to know how good "Fibrex" is, try one of the many articles in which it is made.

 Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.
 You will find that this simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. Usually ends a deep-seated cough in less than 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, chest pains, bronchitis and other throat troubles. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.
 This recipe makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant.
 Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in galical and all the natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this formula.
 This plan of making cough syrup with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada, that it is often imitated. But the old, successful formula has never been equalled.
 A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

A Practical, Reliable Engine For All Purposes

 A big feature about this engine is the evaporator tank. It has been designed so that it is practically frost-proof. The actual freezing of the water in the hopper is not likely to damage either the cylinder or the hopper.
 All of these engines are regularly fitted with suction fuel pump, but on special order can be fitted with fuel pump giving positive fuel feed.
